

Press Release

With a view to ensuring that the rolls are error-free and maintained up-to-date, the Election Commission of India has issued instructions for putting in place a system of Booth Level Officers (BLOs) who would be responsible for within each polling station area, the identification of dead and shifted voters as well as those whose names are missing in the Electoral Rolls (i.e., those who are not registered in the rolls) and to take action for deletion or inclusion in such cases.

2. With the completion of the Summary Revision, 2007 and before the commencement of the next Revision of rolls with 1st of January, 2008 as the qualifying date, all DEOs have been instructed to activate the BLO system so as to identify all the surplus and missing names of electors and take further action for their deletion or inclusion, as the case may be.
